Detective Work

Did you know that your child has been training to do detective work? He/she has been learning how to solve the mystery to unknown words by reading the text and thinking what word makes sense here? This is called "Context Clues" in Language Arts.

Commas & Apostrophes And Quotation Marks

Students have been learning how to properly use commas, apostrophes, and quotation marks in written conversation. They have been practicing the use of capitals, periods, and correct spelling too! This is hard work and takes lots of practice!

Money Madness!

Do you have any change in your pocket? Could you please let your child practice counting it? How many different ways can they make 75 cents?

Crazy Clocks!

Please help your child practice reading time to the minute. This is difficult for some children. If you have an old watch that still works please let them use it to practice reading time.

Math Marathon!

Please help your child memorize addition and subtraction math facts so they can be quickly recalled. I time them to see how many problems they can do in a limited amount of time. Let's win the race!
