

Mrs. Young's Kindernews

January 14, 2007

Show and Tell:

Monday: Happy Birthday, Zach!

Tuesday: Sarah

Wednesday: Marcus

Thursday: Chelbi

Friday: Quincie

Next Monday: Tony

Dates to Remember:

January 21st- Mr. Wiseman will recommend at the board meeting tonight that we have school on Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

Our progress reports will be coming home in a red folder on Wednesday. After you look at your child's, please return only the kindergarten classroom report card with the red folder. You may keep the skills testing page and other reports at home.

The new semester begins today with some schedule changes. Library has been changed to Mondays. Music is now on Wednesdays and Fridays. PE is on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Art is on Tuesdays

We are in the process of learning about the state in which we live. Kansas will celebrate a birthday on January 29th. Feel free to quiz your boy or girl about the state symbols of Kansas. They may surprise you!

I sent home a "Kinder-reader" sentences page in the Kiwi packs on Wednesday so the kids could practice reading the sentences to you. These sentences will help the kids review the animated literacy words and their classmate's names. About 4 students left their Kiwi packs in their mailboxes over the weekend, so I will send these home again on Monday for those who didn't have a chance to practice.

This week, I will also send home a new poem to memorize. Return the signed paper as soon as you feel your little one knows the poem by memory. Then I'll listen to him/her say it and put it in our individual poetry folders.

This Week:

Animated Literacy Phonics Program: We'll learn Lou Lou Moose's sound of "oo", and will draw and spell moon, goose, and boot.

Reading: We'll review making predictions, the sound of "f", and the word "have". Our little reader will be We Fit!

Math: We're learning about place value the concept of tens and ones. We'll also count by 5's.

