With this being Children's Book Week, the preschoolers had a very exciting week. We had lots of visitors to our classroom to read for us. Some of our readers were Mr. Lucas (Art teacher), Miss Liz (Effingham Library), Ray Ladd (County Extension), Mr. Preut (ACCHS Principal), Miss Rose Henry's Child Development class, and Steve Caplinger (School Board President). With all of our visitors reading, our book chart is now at eighty-eight, so we will get to have our class book party soon after Thanksgiving.

We also met the number nine this week in Math and did lots of patterning activities.

We met Uncle Upton in our Animated Literacy; the children really like him. We continued on with our Thanksgiving unit learning all about the pilgrims and the first Thanksgiving feast.

On Friday, both classes, am and pm, got to celebrate with a Thanksgiving feast with our bus drivers and other special guests in our classroom.

Our afternoon class also enjoyed going to the monthly story time at the Public Library with Mrs. Oakleaf and Mrs. Taliaferro. Lots of Thanksgiving stories were read.

A few reminders for parents: there won't be another newsletter until November 30th due to the short week next week. NO CLASSES November 21st, 22nd, and 23rd for Thanksgiving break.

We will finish up our Thanksgiving unit and review Polly Panda and Uncle Upton as well as many of our basic skills we have learned so far.

Both classes need new glue sticks. With our many art activities, the glue sticks have gone fast. So if you could replace them over break, that would be great.

Also a reminder to send a winter change of clothes for your child.

Happy Thanksgiving to all!!!!
